As you know, Dr. Schwartz is extremely dedicated to his constant effort to provide his patients with the best and longest lasting restorations possible. A large part of that effort relies on the fact that Dr. Schwartz is continually learning and expanding his knowledge of the dental field and its newest technologies in order to treat his patients with optimal care.

In keeping with Dr. Schwartz's quest for knowledge we are proud to announce that Dr. Schwartz recently attended the 30th annual scientific session of the AACD (American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry) held in Orlando, Florida.

The American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry® (AACD) is dedicated to advancing excellence in the art and science of comprehensive cosmetic dentistry. They serve to encourage the highest standards of ethical conduct and responsible patient care. The AACD fulfills its mission by: offering superior educational opportunities; promoting and supporting a respected Accreditation credential; serving as a user-friendly and inviting forum for the creative exchange of knowledge and ideas; and providing accurate and useful information to the public and the profession.

Dr. Schwartz is a sustaining member of the AACD and has been a general member for over 10 years. Dr. Schwartz has also participated in the AACD's Give Back a Smile program, which heals some of the most devastating effects of intimate partner violence, by restoring the smiles of adult women and men who have suffered damage to, or lost, their smiles at the hands of a former intimate partner or spouse.
